PHYSICIANS CORNERED.

I suppose there is not in the whole of a physician's experience anything in human suffering which calls forth his sympathy and pity to such an extent as to witness the excruciating pains of a poor mortal suffering from that fearful disease, Rheumatism. Heretofore there has been considerable diversity of opinion among medical men, as to the true character of this disease, some locating it in the fibrous or muscular tissues of the system, and others viewing it as an acute nervous disease; but it is now generally admitted to be a disease arising from a poisonous acid existing in the blood, and further it is admitted that rheumatism can never be thoroughly cured without exterminating such poisonous matters from the blood by a constitutional internal remedy. We feel confident that none will feel better satisfied and rejoice more than the conscientious physician who has found out that a true cure for this stubborn disease has been discovered. The following testimony from a Portland gentleman cannot fail to satisfy all that the

'Diamond Rheumatic Cure

is a wonderful Medical Discovery

PORTLAND, Dec. 11, 1874

Prof. Alphonse Hilier

Dear Sir: Unsolicited by you, I wish to bear testimony to the efficacy of the Diamond Rheumatic Cure. During the past year I have suffered greatly from that common and agonizing affliction, Rheumatism. My shoulder was so affected that my left arm was powerless and I despaired of ever again having the use of that limb. I was induced, by hearing of the many marvellous cures accomplished by the agent while staying at the Preble House, to buy a bottle. It is sufficient to say that without faith in the medicine or its results, by the taking of one small bottle I was entirely relieved. Two weeks have since elapsed, and I am still all right and free from pain, with no indication of its return, and the feeling of new life I experience I attribute to the use of the Diamond Rheumatic Cure. I have the kindness to pass my testimony and experience around for the benefit of suffering humanity. Yours truly,

CARUS HANSCOM, Temple St.

FURTHER PROOF.

CAPE ELIZABETH, Nov. 11, 1874

Prof. Alphonse Hilier

Dear Sir: This is to certify that I have been a tortured sufferer from inflammatory Rheumatism for the past three years, and during the last year my sufferings have been beyond description. I have tried everything I could hear of but obtained no relief until I tried the "Diamond Rheumatic Cure." It is truly a wonderful remedy. Respectfully yours, AMANDA M. BROWN.

Mrs. Capt. Walden is witness to this statement.

The discoverer of this medicine walked the wards of the hospitals of London and Paris for the past twenty years, making rheumatism a specialty, and the prescription from which this remedy is compounded is all he ever used in the treatment of this disease. In simple cases sometimes one or two doses suffice. In the most chronic cases it is sure to give way by the use of four or five bottles. Put up and prepared for the Maso Laboratory Association by P. W. CONNER, 143 Court St., Boston. For sale everywhere. If it happens that your Druggist has not got it in stock, ask him to send for it to the wholesale Agents

J. W. PERKINS & CO., Portland, WM. E. MANN, Bangor, and GEORGE C. GOODWIN & CO., Boston.

Pierce's Rheumatic Cure

FOR RHEUMATISM & NEURALGIA.

A TRIED AND SURE CURE.

This remedy is the result of the research of one of the proprietors who had been a great sufferer for years, and who had tried all the advertised remedies and the skill of many physicians without obtaining relief. A radical cure was obtained, and numerous similar cures effected among his friends and acquaintances, without an exception, have induced him to put it before the public. It was got up without a thought of making it an article of merchandise, but the numerous and increasing demands for it, as its merits have become known, have induced him to advertise it for the benefit of sufferers like himself.

It is an infallible remedy, if persistently used, for those painful maladies of Rheumatism and Neuralgia, as testimonials, too abundant to give in this advertisement, will show. Among them testimonials are those of Mrs. Judge Appleton, R. M. Talcott, J. M. Merrill, (foreman of Bangor Daily and Holt's Foundry) C. H. Emery, and others of Bangor, W. J. Mitchell, (of the Eveleth House, Moosehead Lake.) Alvardo R. Orcutt, of Eddington, a sufferer for fourteen years, and at times helpless, having tried the best known remedies and three skillful physicians without effect, after using seven bottles, has been restored to health, and gives his grateful testimonial.

It is an internal remedy, acting on the blood, freeing it from impurities and imparting free and healthy action to the system. It may be used by children and those of the most delicate constitution with perfect safety. Full directions with each bottle.

Price per bottle $1.00. Liberal discount to the trade. For sale by Druggists generally.

BANGOR TROTTING PARK.

The proprietor of the above Park gives public notice that, having been to great expense to place the track in excellent condition, he demands of the community a proper recognition of his rights.

Season tickets are now ready for persons desiring the use of the track for the purpose of exercising or training their horses, on all days, excepting those of advertised trots.

Any gentleman who has not yet purchased one and wishes to obtain the same, can procure a ticket by application to the proprietor, or to his manager at the track, or at the office of the Penobscot Exchange.

Notice is also hereby given that any person found within the enclosure on days of advertised trots, who has entered in an unlawful way and without purchasing a ticket, will be arrested and prosecuted to the full extent of the law.

The above is rendered necessary from the fact that numbers are daily drawing on the track without paying for the privilege and also that during my recent June meeting, from a quarter to one-half the number of spectators were composed of persons who had scaled the fence or gone by the gate keepers by false statements of their right to do so.

It is hoped that all lovers of horses and horse trotting, and those desiring to see racing conducted in a fair and honorable manner, will assist the proprietor by their patronage in his endeavor to improve the interests in this vicinity.

No gentleman will—or no other—must break over the rules above expressed.

To his many friends and the public at large the subscriber extends his sincere thanks for their patronage.

NEW MAGAZINES

THE GALAXY for August contains contributions from Dr. T. M. Coan, Justin McCarthy, Henry James, Jr., John G. Saxe, Miss Wager, and other well-known writers. The most attractive article in the number is "A London June," the author of which modestly withholds his name from publication. It is a graceful sketch of the social political, and artistic side of the great metropolis, as seen by an American in the month of June, the most attractive month of all the year in London. Dr. Coan's "Zealot and Student," is a comparison between men of thought and men of action, a keen analysis of character, especially of American character, which will repay careful reading. Miss Wager's sketch of the talented and beautiful Countess of Albany and the Italian poet Alfieri, is a romantic bit of history which would not be likely to reach the eye of the ordinary reader of books, and certainly not in the concise and attractive form in which it is here presented. Mr. White contributes another historical sketch under the title of "Mohammed the Iconoclast," which takes nearly the form of a vindication of the great prophet of the East. There are two short stories in the number. One by Henry James, Jr., so well known as a writer of tales, the other by Miss Jurgensen, a new writer of good promise. Three very good poems and one not quite as good make up the body of the magazine, after which come the departments of Science, Literature, and Current Gossip, which to happy sojourners at seaside and mountains are always the favorite part of the magazine. Sheldon & Co., publishers, N. Y.

THE ORACLE. The students of Colby University should have the credit of causing to be published one of the finest College periodicals we have ever seen. The editors are Henry Hudson, Jr., of the class of '75, Charles C. Tilley of the class of '76, Harry N. Haynes of '77 and Charles H. Percival of '78. The editorial department contains a number of thoughtful articles and poems of much more than ordinary merit written by Mr. F. J. Clark, of Parsonsfield, a member of the Senior Class. The Oracle is entirely free from those personal allusions, to the defects of persons connected with the college which frequently mar such works. A series of very suggestive cuts are introduced, adding much to the feature of originality. The printing was done at the Lewiston Journal office, which is a guarantee of its excellence.

FISHING AT MOOSEHEAD LAKE.

There is a great difference in sportsmen. Your city-bred man comes with any number of flies, with patent rod, with all the latest improvements. He dresses in corduroy and flannel, twines his extra flies around his hat-band, and tucks his trowsers into his large boot legs with the significant air of knowing what he is about. Quite another man is the genuine fisherman, whether from the city or living at the lake. He indulges in no superfluities, doesn't talk, goes straight for game. He has the best guides, the best canoes, the best fishing-ground. Generous as he may be in all things else, he is always selfish in his fishing. He cannot endure a rival. Most of the guides understand all that can be known about fishing. It is one of the strong points in their profession. They invest but little in novelties. They are not confined to the fly. A stick, a hook, a worm, make their equipment, and you can always count on their success. Many a minister, apostolic with his rod if not in his commission, and many a lawyer have the same tact in catching trout. They know how to do it. They can no more impart the skill to others than you can make the divining-rod work in unfitting hands. The birch skiffs shoot out from the Kineo pier at 9 A. M. or earlier, often wives and daughters accompanying the fishermen, and go to the famous fishing-pools, returning at night with the brilliantly spotted game, which is served for breakfast the next morning. The guides have wonderful skill in handling these birches in quick water and amidst heavy seas. They are Yankees, Indians, and half-breeds, intelligent, thoroughly wide awake, and interesting in all that relates to backwoods life, and capable of story-telling to any extent. The "Day-Dream" takes parties to all points on the lake for fishing or pleasure—to the Outlet, to Lily Bay, to the Socatean Stream, to the Northeast or Northwest Carry, to Spencer Stream, and to the North Bay, the east side of Kineo Cliff. A whale-boat with a steam-engine in it, a gem of a steamer, the factotum at Mount Kineo, it works night and day during the height of the season, and brings the distant nooks and points of interest within easy reach for the day's sport. Guides and fishermen rapidly assimilate in appearance as the days go on, till you can hardly tell the bronzed faces one from the other, and are forced to confess the truth of the saying that dress makes the man—certainly makes the distinction which we too often ascribe to birth or fortune.

The fishing itself is hardly what it used to be when the lake was overfull of speckled trout. It now requires more skill. The trout do not rise so readily to the fly, and yet the sport is not lessened; they are still abundant—if you can catch them. They spawn in the brooks which feed the lake. Spencer Stream is a famous spawning bed. It is filled with little mounds or heaps of gravel stones made by the trout, which carry the pebbles in their mouths, and place them in regular order over their spawn with their tails. The survival of the fittest is the law in the realm of fishes as well as in the contest of races. The male trout protects the female, while spawning, from the roaches and redfins, which seek to destroy the spawn, and these mounds are the castles of defense which the trout erect for this purpose. Even with this protection, it is estimated that not more than one trout in one thousand arrives at maturity. The little streams are alive with the tiny trout darting to and fro in schools in the shimmering light. The fish have their haunts, with which all the good guides are familiar. They often follow the dog boats in the spring, and have their holes as in the meadow streams. The fly is used in all seasons, though September is the best month. Deep-water fishing is best in June, July, and early in August. Bait fishing is best from April to June. White-fish and lake trout are caught in large quantities through the ice in the winter. Deep fishing is common all summer. [illegible] The largest specimen yet taken weighed twenty-seven pounds. Our guide was positive that he had seen several uncaught which ought to weigh a hundred apiece. These lakers are the monsters of the deep, and prefer to live on their own race—cannibals in fact and cannibals in appearance. The speckled trout are the best to eat, and the most gamy to catch.—Rev. Julius H. Ward, in Harper's Magazine for August.

A Double Danger Averted.

The inhabitant of a malarious region is threatened by a double danger. He is not only compelled to breathe miasma, but to swallow it, since it infects not only the atmosphere but the water. The aerial poison threatens his system through the lungs and pores, the liquid through the stomach. Against this double peril there is but one protection, and that is to invigorate the entire body through the digestive and secretive organs. Ordinary tonics usually fail to accomplish this—Hostetter's Stomach Bitters never. In the tropics, where the diseases originated by miasma are of a far more malignant type than those originated by the same cause in the temperate zone, it enjoys immense and constantly increasing sales and there is no portion of this continent where it is not the reigning specific for miasmatic fevers and disorders of the stomach, liver and bowels, proceeding from malaria and other causes.

THE AGRICULTURAL SCRIP.

[From the Portland Press.]

Dr. Jordan, the [illegible] and veracious Bangor correspondent of the Maine Standard, has a flaming letter copied by our [illegible] in regard to the sale by the administrations of Gov. Cony and Gov. Chamberlain of the Agricultural College scrip, in which the modest statement is made that Maine was swindled out of twelve hundred thousand dollars by Blaine's [illegible]. Mr. Blaine is not [illegible] of doing it, but the act was [illegible] a troop of plunderers, which according to Dr. Jordan Mr. Blaine [illegible]. The Bangor Commercial [illegible] Dr. Jordan [illegible] that the troop of plunderers consisted of the late Gov. Cony, the late Gen. [illegible] Governor Abner Coburn. There is not a man in Maine that has the strength to make this [illegible] except Dr. Jordan and we all know that Dr. Jordan is [illegible] the most and the [illegible] Dr. Jordan! To add a further [illegible] would be gilding refined gold and painting the lily.

The history of the Agricultural College scrip donated to Maine is very simple. The following letter [illegible] from Hon. [illegible] Secretary of State gives [illegible] of the whole matter:

Hon. Sidney Perham, Governor of the State of Maine:

From this investment the college annually receives the sum of $7,066.

I am, sir, very respectfully,
Your obedient servant,
G. G. STACY,
Secretary of State.

In regard to the last scrip sold four years and more after the sales made by Governor Cony, the following letter from Governor Chamberlain to State Treasurer Caldwell will give full explanation. Hon. William Deering, of this city, then in the Executive Council from Cumberland, was the principal agent with Governor Chamberlain in effecting the last sale. But to the Governor's letter:

BRUNSWICK, June 21, 1870.

Hon. William Caldwell, State Treasurer:

My Dear Sir—Herewith please find Mr. G. F. Lewis' letter. We have concluded a bargain the most advantageous possible, with him for eighty-four cents per acre, amounting to $13,706.80. He wants the college scrip assigned, etc. I do not understand the process, and send his letter to you. If necessary, I will come up and see you.

Yours truly, J. L. CHAMBERLAIN.

It is hardly necessary to add that the New England States generally got for their scrip about the same price obtained by Maine. It was sold perhaps prematurely by most of the States in order to realize funds for locating the colleges, instead of advancing the necessary amount. The grant lapsed if the college was not organized within a certain time, and Maine, perhaps unwisely, sold her scrip instead of advancing the money.

But one strong reason urging many States as well as Maine to sell at that time was the pendency of a Bounty Land Bill in Congress proposing to give a quarter section of land to each soldier, or his heir, that had served in the war. As the army roll contained about two million names the amount of land scrip required would have taken some three hundred and twenty millions of acres and the market would have been so flooded as to have reduced the price to nothing. It was the fear of the passage of this bill, however, that induced the Legislature of Maine and of other States to sell their scrip when they did. Even four years after, when the Bounty Land Bill had been defeated, Gov. Chamberlain declared eighty-four cents an acre to be the very best possible price, and there has been no time since when the State could ever have got over ninety cents even by waiting and losing interest. See price of land warrants.

New York dealt more wisely in giving the entire body of her scrip to Cornell University, on condition of its maintaining an Agricultural Department. And old Ezra Cornell, accepting the grant for his University and advancing the money for the Agricultural Department, took the scrip and trudged through Wisconsin on foot locating it on pine lands which are still held for the University and will make in the end a vast endowment. But Mr. Cornell did not escape slander, and only last year the poor old man was investigated into his grave by just such absurd lies as that with which Dr. Jordan attempts to stir the names of Gov. Cony and General Coburn.

The course pursued in New York was earnestly and persistently urged on the Legislature of Maine long before New York thought of it. In January 1863, Mr. Blaine and the late Professor Smythe, of Bowdoin addressed both branches of the Legislature assembled in the Representative Hall on two consecutive evenings—Mr. Blaine appearing for Waterville College and Prof. Smyth for Bowdoin. Each argued at great length against the policy of selling the scrip and establishing a new and separate institution and each urged most earnestly that the scrip be given outright to one of the existing colleges in Maine on condition that said college should advance the money to establish and successfully maintain an Agricultural Department. Both Mr. Blaine and Mr. Smythe warned the Legislature that selling the scrip would never give funds enough to establish a successful Agricultural College. And Mr. Blaine, speaking for Waterville College, with President Champlin by his side pledged that College, in case the grant should be assigned to it to follow the same line of policy afterwards adopted by Cornell. Indeed that plan was first proposed by Mr. Blaine. Moreover it is to be remembered that both Gov. Coburn and Gov. Cony cordially agreed to this plan. In his address to the Legislature Jan. 1863, Gov. Coburn, who knows as much about the value of lands as any man in America, referring to the grant said:

"As none of the proceeds arising from sale of these lands can be devoted to the erection of buildings, it may be expedient and indeed absolutely necessary to allow some of our existing institutions to avail themselves of the benefit of the grant provided satisfactory guarantees can be given that its design will be faithfully carried out. The amount to be realized in cash from the grant will of course be very considerable, though from various causes not necessary to enumerate it will be very far below the estimates which have been heretofore made."

The next year 1864 Gov. Cony repeated the recommendation of Gov. Coburn speaking thus in his address to the Legislature:

"Without the slightest preference on my own part as to what institution shall be selected with which to connect the Agricultural College, my convictions are very decided that it is expedient to adopt some such plan."

But the Legislature was determined to have a separate institution and the advice of Gov. Coburn, of Gov. Cony, of Mr. Blaine and of Prof. Smythe was rejected. Certainly if the Agricultural College has not fulfilled expectations its failure cannot be laid at the door of any of these gentlemen.

It will not escape observation as the fitting answer to the absurd slanders of Dr. Jordan that the only Maine men in any way interested in the purchase of this scrip were two prominent Democrats, Franklin Smith of Waterville and William K. Lancy of Pittsfield. Mr. Smith is a highly respectable man and was Democratic candidate for Governor in 1860. Lancy is a brawling, noisy partizan after the stripe that is dear to the heart of Dr. Jordan. It will be noticed that Smith and Lancy [illegible] between them 25,000 acres, about one-eighth of the whole grant, so if there was a swindle of twelve hundred thousand dollars Smith and Lancy got one hundred and fifty thousand. We hope Dr. Jordan will insist on these living Democrats giving that amount to the treasury of the Agricultural College, for they, indeed, were the only "troop of plunderers" in Maine who got their hands on this famous scrip. Let him employ his vituperative energies in denouncing Smith and Lancy the living offenders, and cease for very shame (if Dr. Jordan can be supposed even to feel shame) from pouring his filth on the graves of dead men whose shoes he was never worthy to stoop down and unloose.

The Democratic papers are trying to distract attention from their inability to answer the arraignment in Col. Smith's letter to their candidate, by silly talk of its being received with disfavor by Republican soldiers. Every candid reader of the letter has acknowledged the dignified and honorable manner in which it stated the undisputed but unfortunate facts of Gen. Roberts' political record during the critical period of the war, and the commendable qualities of the letter are rendered more conspicuous by contrast with the scurrility lavished upon Colonel Smith by the Democratic organs. The statement of the Maine Standard that "officers in Bangor such as Col. Farnham, Postmaster, Captain Emerson and Dr. A. C. Hamlin, Surgeon, all Republicans, censure the letter in the severest terms," is about as truthful as the average assertions of that paper. Colonel Farnham and Capt. Emerson regard Col. Smith's letter as amply justified by the challenge to a comparison of "war records," and they regard the document as an able, moderate and gentlemanly statement of facts. Dr. Hamlin we have not personally seen, but he is an ardent supporter of the gallant Connor, has the most unmitigated contempt for the efforts to give aid and comfort to the enemy during the war, and whenever he has any criticisms to make, it will be through another channel than the columns of the Maine Standard. Until the champions of General Roberts can produce something in reply possessing a tithe of the manliness, respectability and cogency of Colonel Smith's letter, they only increase the foolishness of their appearance by claiming sympathy among Republicans which does not exist.

No one in this vicinity would think of giving any credence or paying any attention to the maunderings of that dilapidated genius, "Doctor" Jordan; but if it were worth while to expose his mendacity, the showing up of his stupid and malicious libels concerning the State College land grants could not have been more effectually performed than it is in the article from the Portland Press which we quote in this issue. Jordan's utter lack of responsibility or consequence renders him available as the mouth-piece of slanders which accountable parties would not care to make, and year after year he wallows in political filth which would long ago have suffocated a person of ordinary constitution. It is one of the unmitigated evils as it is among the grossest abuses of the freedom of the press that such despicable bohemians are permitted to invade even the sanctity of the grave in their attempts to fasten calumnies upon honored names.

The BANGOR WHIG brings the serious charge that Marcellus Emery walks arm in arm with Gen. Roberts. It is likely to discover next September that many of its former party friends are doing the same thing.—Belfast Journal.

It is well to have the political association of Gen. Roberts and Marcellus Emery so candidly admitted by such unquestioned Democratic authority as the Belfast Journal. When it is understood that support of Gen. Roberts means affiliation with the most notorious rebel-sympathizers we have little fear of the number of Republicans who will seek arm-in-arm contact with the editor of the Bangor Democrat. Let's see—we believe it was Mr. W. G. Chadbourne, a Democrat, who remarked in a Democratic State Convention not long ago:

"WHO IS THIS MARCELLUS EMERY? WHAT HAS HE EVER DONE FOR THE DEMOCRATIC PARTY? * * * * *

The Democratic party owes him nothing, BUT HAD IT NOT BEEN FOR THE LOYAL DEMOCRACY HE WOULD HAVE DANGLED FROM A BANGOR LAMP-POST IN THE EARLY PART OF THE WAR! * * AND PERHAPS IT WOULD HAVE BEEN BETTER FOR THE PARTY IF HE HAD BEEN HANGED!"

Pillsbury's lusty shouting of "liar" reminds the editor of the Biddeford Times of Shakespeare! Perhaps he can furnish us with a classic model for the following refined expression of the Chairman of the Democratic State Committee and sponsor of General Roberts, with reference to the memory of that revered patriot, Abraham Lincoln.

"MR. LINCOLN WILL SHINE AND STINK AND STINK AND SHINE LIKE A ROTTEN MACKEREL BY MOONLIGHT."

"The New York Tribune is probably joking when it expresses seeming disapprobation with the Republicans of Maine for criticising the war record of Gen. Roberts. It was not the Republicans of Maine who first presented the war record of General Roberts as a prominent feature of the campaign, but the Democrats themselves, who not only published his record in the columns of their newspapers, but nominated him as the "patriot soldier," and because, as they said, of his "brilliant military record." If the rebellion figures in our campaign and General Roberts is damaged in consequence, he must blame the Argus and the military proclamation with which he accepted his nomination.—[Kennebec Journal.

A CARD TO BOURBON

ORLAND, July 13, 1875.

To the Editor of the Whig and Courier

I met a man in Orland who says he would give his right hand if by so doing he could make Jefferson Davis President of this Nation. He says he cried when he heard of Orland men being killed or starved to death in the late "nigger war." He further says that Gen. Connor is no more fit to be Governor of this State than his dog is.

Really, I thought I had got back to the times and places of 1862, when I heard professed Christians praying for just enough of the blood of "Abraham" to wash their fingers in. Rebels are not all dead yet.

BURNHAM WARDWELL.

They have a new Governor in New York, for the constitution of the State provides that in the absence of the Governor his functions shall devolve upon the Lieutenant Governor. Tilden is living in New Jersey at present.

Who is Mrs. Winslow.

As this question is frequently asked, we will simply say that she is a lady who, for upwards of thirty years, has untiringly devoted her time and talents as a Female Physician and nurse, principally among children. She has especially studied the constitution and wants of this numerous class, and, as a result of this effort, and practical knowledge, obtained in a lifetime spent as nurse and physician, she has compounded a Soothing Syrup, for children teething. It operates like magic—giving rest and health, and is, moreover, sure to regulate the bowels. In consequence of this article, Mrs. Winslow is becoming world-renowned as a benefactor of her race; children certainly do rise up and bless her; especially is this the case in this city. Vast quantities of the Soothing Syrup are DAILY sold and used here. We think Mrs. Winslow has immortalized her name by this invaluable article, and we sincerely believe thousands of children have been saved from an early grave by its timely use, and that millions yet unborn will share its benefits, and unite in calling her blessed. No MOTHER has discharged her duty to her suffering little one, in our opinion, until she has given it the benefit of Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup. Try it, mothers—TRY IT NOW.—Ladies' Visitor, New York City. Sold by all Druggists.

THE PORTLAND MILITIA FORTY YEARS AGO. A correspondent is reminded by the reports of the Bowdoin reunion of the class of 1825, of the Portland militia as it existed at that time. He writes:

At this time (1825) the old militia system was at its height, and was the best system ever devised for a Republican government. In Portland there were three rival companies, the Rifles, Light Infantry and Mechanic Blues, each striving to excel the other. The Rifle Corps was organized in 1812 to protect Portland from the British fleet, and no person ever belonged to it not a lawyer or merchant until years after I left it. And when these distinguished gentlemen graduated into the Rifle Corps, viz. two Longfellows, Patrick Henry Greenleaf, Frederick Mellen, Little, and Lyman, Poor, Kidder, Tebbets, Dow, Dana, Kimball and many others, who have all made themselves more or less a name to be remembered. Returning, the barge left at 4 o'clock and reached home about 8 o'clock. The barge touched at Fort Point, going and returning, and about eight hundred persons participated in the excursion, which was a perfect success throughout and was thoroughly enjoyed by every body. The Bangor Cornet Band furnished music, and on the way up river the time was passed in music, vocal and instrumental, and in dancing by those who desired. A party of thirty-five or forty from Orono and Oldtown joined their Bangor friends, the 7.20 train waiting for them till the barge arrived.

TURF RACES.

Second Day of the Meeting at the Bangor Trotting Park—Two Exciting Events and a Close Contest—Fastest Time 2.33 3-4.

"Silver Eye" Winner in the 2.50 Class in Three Straight Heats—"Red Jacket" Takes First Money in the 2.37 Class.

Yesterday, the second day of the July meeting, was all that could be desired in the way of weather, while the attractions offered by the two races that comprised the afternoon's programme, were quite sufficient to gratify those whose tastes lead them to patronize exhibitions of equine speed. For a city which is credited with more than an ordinary admiration for horse-flesh, the attendance was decidedly meagre, and not at all commensurate with the merits of the races, which have been conducted with uniform impartiality and fairness.

The two events yesterday afternoon included a race for horses that have never beaten 2.50, and the second for horses with no better record than 2.37. In the former the favorite, Shaw's "Silver Eye," again showed his good points in a manner to gratify his backers, taking the first money very easily in three straight heats. The race in the 2.37 class was distinguished for the fast time made in the second heat,—2.33¾, and for the fact that it was the first on this course the present season in which the winner has not settled matters in three straight heats. There was nothing unusual, however, in the fact that in this race the favorite got badly "left," while a field horse captured the first money.

The judges were the Messrs. F. H. Haskell, of Waterville; and A. W. Worcester and Hamilton Brook, of Boston.

FIRST RACE.

The first race of the day, and the third of the meeting, was for a purse of $150 for horses in the 2.50 class, divided into three sums of $90, $40 and $20, respectively. The field contained nine entries with six starters. In drawing for position Hames' Brick drew the pole, Getchell's Bradley second, Shaw & Harriman's Whitefield Maid third, Reed's Mabel fourth, Lord's Daisy Dean fifth, and Shaw's Silver Eye outside, with Major, Chance and Josie, withdrawn. Silver Eye was the favorite, with considerable odds, and as in the 3 minute race of Wednesday, behaved finely and without apparent effort had everything his own way, Brick second and Mabel third,—time, 2.40, 2.41¾ and 2.42. The Whitefield Maid was distanced in the first heat and Bradly in the second.

First Heat. The horses were called on time and after making seven attempts got the word. At the first quarter Brick had the lead, with Silver Eye second, followed by Daisy Dean, Whitfield Maid and Mabel,—time, .38, at the half the position of the two leading horses was the same,—time, 1.18¾. The third quarter was made in 1.55, and directly after Silver Eye got to the front, with Brick off his feet, and passing under the wire Silver Eye was two lengths ahead, Brick second, Bradley third, followed by Mabel and Daisy Dean, with the Whitefield Maid shut out,—time 2.40.

Second Heat. The five horses were sent off promptly, Brick again in the lead, Silver Eye passing Bradley on the first turn making the quarter in .40; on the next turn Silver Eye captured Brick and was first at the half-mile pole in 1.20, and at the third quarter in 2.00½; Silver Eye passed the stand a length ahead of Brick, Mabel third, Daisy Dean fourth, and Bradley with the distance flag under his nose,—time, 2.41¾.

Third Heat. After scoring five times the four horses got an even start, Silver Eye leading at the first pole, with Brick close up, Mabel and Daisy Dean at the rear, in .40¼, at the half the positions were the same,—time, 1.21¼; the third quarter was made in 2.00, and down the home stretch Silver Eye kept well to the front, passing the wire first, taking the heat and race, Brick second, Mabel third, and Daisy Dean fourth,—time, 2.42.

SUMMARY.

BANGOR TROTTING PARK, July 15, 1875. Second day of the July meeting. Third race, mile heats, best three in five, in harness, purse of $150, for horses that have never beaten 2.50, $90 to the first, $40 to second, $20 to third. Closed with nine entries.

SECOND RACE.

The second race of the day, and the fourth of the meeting, was the most exciting of any thus far. It was for horses of the 2.37 class for a purse of $200,—$125, $50 and $25,—with eight entries and five to start, Dick, Little Fred and Charcoal being drawn. Bay Dick got the pole, Honest Farmer second, Red Jacket third, Fred Logan fourth and Togus Boy outside. Fred Logan was the favorite, with Honest Farmer second choice against the field. In the nine previous races trotted on the course this summer each was taken in three straight heats; this broke the spell, requiring four heats to settle it; but this would not have occurred if Red Jacket had not got a bad send off in the third heat. With this disadvantage the lively little stallion would have got the heat had not Wheelden drove him into the ditch, cutting him off as he was pushing for the front near the third quarter pole. This manoeuvre caused the delay of trotting another heat, in which Red Jacket again won, while Honest Farmer, the second choice, did not even take third money. Fred Logan, the favorite, took the second purse, and Bay Dick the third, with no horses distanced in the race,—time, 2.36¼, 2.33¾, 2.38 and 2.38¼.

First Heat. The horses were sent off the second time down, with Honest Farmer leading, Togus Boy second, and Red Jacket third, making the quarter in .40; at the half Togus Boy had passed Farmer, with Red Jacket along side the latter, Fred Logan and Bay Dick trotting together,—time, 1.20¼; the third quarter was reached in 1.58½, Red Jacket having pushed his way to the front, keeping the lead home and past the stand, Logan second, Farmer third, Togus Boy fourth and Bay Dick last,—time, 2.36¼.

Second Heat: Scored three times; the quarter was made by Red Jacket in .39¾, with Togus second; the half was reached in 1.17¾; at the third quarter Logan was ... after Red Jacket, Togus Boy and Farmer nearly ...,—time, 1.55; the heat was taken by Red Jacket, with Fred Logan second and Honest Farmer third, Togus Boy and Bay Dick following,—time 2.33¾.

Third Heat.— [illegible] ... by Logan, Togus Boy and Farmer,—time, .40; before reaching the half-mile pole Red Jacket had gathered himself and passed Farmer, with Fred Logan at the front,—time, 1.18¾; from the half Red Jacket bore away handsomely and would have pushed his nose by Logan and Togus Boy had not Farmer cut him off just before reaching the third pole in 1.58; on the last turn Red Jacket made a burst for the front and coming down the stretch lacked only a length of getting the heat, with Fred Logan first and Togus Boy but a neck behind, Red Jacket third, Bay Dick and Honest Farmer following,—time, 2.38.

Fourth Heat. Scored once and were sent off; Red Jacket passed the quarter in .39, Logan second; the half in 1.19¼, with the two horses in the same position and the others in a heap; the third quarter was made in 1.59¼; from there home Red Jacket was still ahead, while the others in their anxiety for second money got decidedly mixed; Red Jacket came in first, Logan second, but was put back to the fourth place for running, Togus Boy third, Bay Dick fourth, but given the second position by the judges, Honest Farmer last,—time, 2.38¼.

SUMMARY.

BANGOR TROTTING PARK, July 15, 1875. Second day of the July meeting. Fourth race, mile heats, best three in five, in harness, purse of $200 for horses that have never beaten 2.37. $125 to the first, $50 to second, $25 to third. Closed with eight entries.

RUNNING AGAINST TIME.

After one heat had been trotted in each race, Mr. White announced that a young man by the name of Powers would then run two miles in twelve minutes. Powers is from Boston, and is not unknown for endurance and speed in previous trials of a similar nature. It was four minutes to 4 o'clock when he appeared in front of the stand, taking the pole when the word was given. He accomplished his proposed feat very easily, and was fresh at the finish, having run twice around the track in 11.2¼. The following is the time:

| Quarter | Half | Three quarter | Mile |
|---|---|---|---|
| 1.27 | 3.31 | 3.58 | 5.15 |
| 6.44 | 6.22 | 9.09 | 11.21¼ |

It was announced that Powers would run against time again to-day, attempting three miles within eighteen minutes.

THE GREAT TROT TO-DAY.

While all the races have been well contested, public interest has been particularly centered in the great sweepstakes this afternoon, for which twelve horses are entered, including several of the fastest in Maine. It is said to be the largest field for a sweepstakes purse ever known on any course in the State, and as all, or nearly all of them will start, the contest will be unusually exciting. Of these five or six have records close down to 2.30, and where so many are evenly matched hot work may be anticipated. The entries are as follows:

|---|---|
| Owen Dugan, Bangor | b. g. Honest Billy |
| J. H. Manter, Foxcroft | g. Fred Logan |
| S. Witham, Waterville | g. Jim Fisk |
| E. Getchell, Waterville | g. Ladley |

The second race for the day, and the sixth and last of the meeting, will be a "Consolation purse," of $80, free of entrance to all horses that have not won money in the three-minute and 2.50 classes which includes Major, Lady Malcolm, Josie, Limbo, Chance, Bradley, Whitefield Maid and Daisy Deane. This will conclude one of the best race meetings ever held in this section, and without doubt there will be a large crowd in attendance if the weather is favorable. The horses will be called at 2.30 o'clock promptly, and those who wish to take ladies will find comfortable positions in their carriages inside the quarter stretch.

BOWDOIN'S FUNDS. The friends of Bowdoin College in Portland and elsewhere propose to perpetuate the memory of the notable reunion of last week by endowing a Longfellow professorship of modern languages. It is proposed to raise $10,000 by subscription for this purpose, and it is to be hoped that the movement to pay merited honor to the poet's name by permanently connecting it with the institution which he has honored, will be in every way successful. An additional incentive to generosity is found in the fact that the $10,000 needed to secure the $60,000 pledged toward the general endowment fund of $100,000 (of which $50,000 has been paid) must be raised at once, or the pledges lapse. Towards the $10,000 required the Hon. J. W. Bradbury, of Augusta, has subscribed $1,000, and the Hon. James G. Blaine $1,500.

HOW GEN. McPHERSON WAS KILLED. An ex-Confederate writes to the Nashville Banner some particulars of the death of the gallant officer named above: The general public, as well as General Sherman, know nothing of the circumstances under which General McPherson met his death in the hard-fought battle before Atlanta of July 22. It has been reported that he was murdered by the Confederates. The facts are as follows: He had gone in front of his line of battle expecting the protection of his skirmishers, but they had been captured, and while passing along a crooked road through a dense woods, he was suddenly and unexpectedly in close proximity to the Confederates; so near was it that Capt. Richard ..., whose company was ... the road, ... his already drawn sword ... and the General, ... as it were, took off his hat. He turned his horse immediately, without a word having been spoken, and was making to the rear ..., when a corporal of Capt. Beard's company fired, and the gallant McPherson fell ... on his face and breast. ... [illegible] ... moved ... to the front (and was very ...), leaving the body ... touched; but in this instance, as was customary, men in the rear rifled the pockets, and took the boots off his feet.

POLITICAL AND PERSONAL.

The Republican press of New York accepts the suggestion of the name of Mr. Frederick W. Seward for the nomination of Secretary of State with entire unanimity. Not a single journal of the party has the slightest objection to him.

The recent Democratic Conference at Columbus to arrange a plan for the Ohio campaign failed to accomplish any result, because of the different principles prevailing in different localities, requiring speakers to match. They will have to map out the State on the same plan as fever or malarial charts are drawn, coloring the different counties according to the predominance of inflation or hard money views.

ANALYSIS OF THE HUMAN BREATH.— An account published in Nature, of some experiments made with a view to determine the organic matter of the human breath in health and disease, presents some facts of a peculiarly interesting nature. The breath of eleven healthy persons and of seventeen affected by different disorders was examined, the persons being of different sexes and ages, and the time of day at which the breath was condensed varying. The vapor of the breath was condensed in a large glass flask surrounded by ice and salt, at a temperature of several degrees below zero, the fluid thus collected being then analyzed for free ammonia, urea, and kindred substances, also for organic ammonia. Among the various results of this examination may be mentioned the fact that, in both health and disease, the free ammonia varied considerably; the variation, however, could not be connected with the time of the day, the fasting or full condition. Urea was sought for in fifteen instances—three healthy persons and twelve cases of disease; but it was only found in two cases of kidney disease. In one case of diphtheria, and a faint indication of its presence occurred in a female suffering from catarrh. The quantity of ammonia arising from the destruction of organic matter also varied, possibly from the oxidation of albuminous particles by the process of respiration; but in healthy persons there was a remarkable uniformity in the total quantity of ammonia obtained by the process.

Ex-Congressman Beck, of Kentucky, is a favorite exponent of Democracy, and the following is his version of the party creed as given on the stump a few days ago: "Yes, gentlemen, there is that contemptible word, nation—the word that no good Democrat uses when he can find any other and when forced to use it utters it always with disgust. This is no nation. We are free and independent States. There is no nationality, no centralization, no despotism, no nation outside of this miserable thieving, rotten Radical party."

The Portland Press says: "The most persistent and sanctimonious falsifier among our Democratic exchanges is the Maine Standard; the most reckless and altogether delirious and frenzied one is the Commercial, but for hopeless ten foot stupidity, the Anson Advocate can hope for no competitor."

The Boston Globe says: "If the result of the great trial was but a qualified exoneration of Mr. Beecher's character, the magnificent demonstration of confidence on the part of those who have known him best and longest is an ample recompense for the lack of completeness in the judicial vindication and the sneers and scepticism of those who are incapable of comprehending him. Plymouth Church and his friends and neighbors of Brooklyn and Peekskill have no lukewarmness in their expressions of faith. And, best of all, he has his own approval, and that is what no guilty man could have, or express as he does. His speech at Peekskill which we print, this morning, is characteristic of the man; and it is a peculiar fact that when Mr. Beecher himself speaks, his words confirm and strengthen the faith of those who believe in him, and disarm those who argue against him. Surely there are times when a prophet hath honor even in his own country and among his own kin."

NERVOUSNESS. It affords me great pleasure to bear testimony to the benefits I have received from using Fellows' Compound Syrup of Hypophosphites. I have recommended it to many of my friends, and it has proved an excellent curative for nervousness and general debility.

It is also a first-class tonic, enables a person to take on flesh rapidly, and is free from the constipating effects characteristic of other tonics I have tried.

This preparation has been for more than a quarter of a century a favorite medicine of family physicians.

Judgment of the Public!

During the past five years the public have ... fully observed the wonderful success ... from the use of VEGETINE. From its use many an afflicted sufferer has been restored to perfect health after having expended a small fortune in procuring medical advice and obtaining poisonous mineral medicines.

It is now justly considered by all classes of people that VEGETINE holds a higher position in the estimation of the public than any other medical compound in ... [illegible]

... the human system for which VEGETINE cannot be used with perfect safety, as it does not contain any metallic or poisonous compound. It is composed exclusively of barks, roots and herbs; it is very pleasant to take, every child likes it. It is safe and reliable, to the following ...

Valuable Evidence.

The following unsolicited testimonial from Rev. O. T. Walker, D. D., formerly pastor of Bowdoin Square Church, Boston, and at present settled in Providence, R. I., ... the use of VEGETINE in the Rev. Mr. Walker's family, who now pronounce it invaluable:

PROVIDENCE, R. I., 164 TRANSIT STREET.

H. R. STEVENS, Esq.:

I feel bound to express with my ... the high value I place upon your VEGETINE. My family have used it for the last two years. In nervous debility it is invaluable, and I recommend it to all who may need an invigorating, renovating tonic.

O. T. WALKER,
Formerly Pastor of Bowdoin Square Church, Boston.

The Best Evidence.

The following letter from Rev. E. S. Best, pastor of the M. E. Church, Natick, Mass., will be read with interest by many physicians. Also those suffering from the same disease as afflicted the son of the Rev. E. S. Best. No person can doubt this testimony, and there is no doubt about the curative powers of VEGETINE.

NATICK, Mass., Jan. 1, 1873.

MR. H. R. STEVENS:

Dear Sir—We have good reason for regarding your VEGETINE a medicine of the greatest value. We feel assured that it has been the means of saving our son's life. He is now seventeen years of age; for the last two years he has suffered from necrosis of his leg, caused by scrofulous affection, and was so far reduced that nearly all who saw him thought his recovery impossible. A council of able physicians could give us but the faintest hope of his ever rallying, two of the number declaring that he was beyond the reach of human remedies, that even amputation could not save him, as he had not vigor enough to endure the operation. Just then we commenced giving him VEGETINE, and from that time to the present he has been continuously improving. He has lately resumed studies, thrown away his crutches and cane, and walks about cheerfully and strong.

Though there is still some discharge from the opening where his limb was lanced, we have the fullest confidence that in a little time he will be perfectly cured.

He has taken about three dozen bottles of VEGETINE, but lately used but little as he declares that he is too well to be taking medicine.

Respectfully yours,
E. S. BEST,
MRS. L. C. F. BEST.

Reliable Evidence.

MR. H. R. STEVENS:

Dear Sir—I will most cheerfully add my testimony to the great number you have already received in favor of your great and good medicine, VEGETINE, for I do not think enough can be said in its praise, for I was troubled over thirty years with that dreadful disease, Catarrh, and had such bad coughing spells that it would seem as though I could never breathe any more, and VEGETINE has cured me; and I do feel to thank God all the time there is so good a medicine as VEGETINE, and I also think it one of the best medicines for coughs and weak, sinking feelings at the stomach, and advise everybody to take the VEGETINE, for I can assure them it is one of the best medicines that ever was.

"Go publish one, and say to them
That as I fade and die
Then rise and brightlier shine again
Above them in the sky

So they must fall and fade away,
But on [illegible] rise
Where resurrection paves the way
To fairer, friendlier skies"

But out of silliness, trick, or feud,
The message which was sent
The reckless little hare construed
With most malign intent

O race of men, the moon hath said
That as she lives and dies
So unto death shall ye be led,
And nevermore shall rise"

Now when the moon had heard the case
Her axe with force and grip,
She struck into the meek hare's face,
Which caused the split hare lip

The hare incensed, with claws upborne,
Scratched back with right good grace
And since that day the moon has worn
A rough and ragged face

THE LATEST FASHIONS

SUMMER DRESSES

Among imported dresses are Scotch gingham suits of endless variety made in cool gray and white stripes and Centennial brown striped with blue. These are sold ready made for $20, but ingenious needle-women can make them at home at far less expense and in styles equally good that will not vex the patience of the laundress. They invariably have the basque and an over-skirt. Their pretty effect is given by making the basque and apron bias so that the stripes will meet diagonally in the back and front, and the plaids will appear to be set bias. Plaitings are not easily ironed, but they add style to the suit, especially to the striped ginghams, where a certain stripe is arranged on top of each plait. White pearl buttons or shaded ones of buffalo horn, with shank and ring, are used on these dresses. Imported suits are at low at the [illegible] in [illegible], but those made to order are very high around the neck and finished with a plaiting or else a Byron or an English collar. Pale blue and white plaid gingham suits are cool and fresh-looking for summer mornings and are preferred by some to the dark indigo blue; these look very pretty also over black silk skirts. In some cases white open Hamburg work is used for trimming them instead of plaiting, while others have bias gathered ruffles with scalloped edges neatly overcast in button hole stitch. Plaid and striped plaitings are now often cut bias and are very pretty. Brown and white gingham and percale suits in small checks, blocks, and in black plaids are very stylish and much used for short journeys or for morning shopping or strolls in the country instead of the gray linen suits so much worn for two years past.

[illegible] remains in favor for summer and is still the most popular in dark blue gray [illegible] shades. Blue batiste—which is sheer lawn, not to be confounded with heavy glazed linen—is trimmed with ecru guipure insertion and lace, white guipure [illegible] and also with open English embroidery on white muslin. A row of ecru insertion and lace around the belted basque and deep overskirt is sufficient trimming for these dresses, and is very effective; the lower skirt should have one or two side plaitings. One very unique suit has the sleeves and flounces of white cambric wrought all over with open compass patterns, while the basque and both skirts are of blue batiste. Neat and useful suits for $18 have two skirts and a double-breasted English walking jacket with pockets on the sides.

FLANNEL COSTUMES

Scotch costumes for morning are made of plaid flannel of fine light quality. Black irregular plaids on white are most fashionable. This flannel is used merely for the basque or jacket and over-skirt. It is trimmed with bias bands of black silk and worn over a black silk skirt. The plaid parts are cut bias, and trimmed with shaded pearl buttons. At the furnishing houses what is [illegible] called a costume is merely a basque and over-skirt and such [illegible] of the plaids just described are [illegible]. Fine pressed flannel costs 60 [illegible] a yard. Twilled flannels are more [illegible]. White twilled flannels as soft and light as camel's hair stuffs are chosen for handsome suits and are worn over black velvet skirts. Bias bands of black velvet with cuffs, collar, buttons, [illegible] in the white over-dress.

SUMMER [illegible]

Basques are more trimmed than they were last season. A collar of some kind [illegible] lawn in the breast seen on [illegible] basques this may be only a plain revers [illegible] or square-cornered or [illegible] of small plaits laid the whole length of the collar and edged with a plaited frill, this fashion is very pretty in grenadine. Another fancy is that of making the front like a vest covered with [illegible] plaits reaching from the throat to the end of the basque. A similar row of plaitings down the middle of the back [illegible] basque. When the back of the wearer is straight and slender very little trimmings used and the long side forms begin high on the shoulders. To trim it such [illegible] the middle of the basque below the belt is trimmed with four or five rows of fine knife plaiting, giving fulness on the [illegible]. When two colors such as blue and gray are used in a basque the color that is most becoming to the wearer should be placed in the middle next the face; thus the vest front and the middle forms of the back should be blue while the long side forms meeting about the shoulders and all those parts under the arms are gray. The sleeves should then be blue with gray plaitings around the cuffs.

Long aprons reaching to the foot now look very bare unless they are much trimmed. Full tuned outline other aprons by trimmings placed parallel with the lower edge of the apron, while short figures are given an appearance of length by having perpendicular rows down the apron. Thus aprons of white nainsook or organdy have two or three rows of Valenciennes insertion and lace placed at wide intervals across the apron, or else three rows are placed lengthwise on the front breadth. Hamburg insertion on muslin in thick or in open work is also used in this way.—Harper's Bazar

To the Honorable Judge of Probate for the County of Penobscot:

The undersigned, administrator of the estate of Thomas Goodale, late of Bangor, in said county, deceased, respectfully represents that the goods and chattels, rights and credits of said deceased are not sufficient to pay his just debts and charges of administration, by about five hundred dollars.

Wherefore your petitioner prays your Honor to grant him a license to sell, at public or private sale, and convey all the late homestead of the deceased, situate at the corner of Elm and Garland streets, in said Bangor, inasmuch as by a partial sale of the entire portion of said real estate the residue would be greatly depreciated in value, the same being all of the real estate of the deceased, (including the reversion of the widow's dower therein,) to satisfy said debts, expenses of sale, and charges of administration.

To the Honorable Judge of Probate for the County of Penobscot:

The undersigned, administrator of the estate of Levi Lancaster, Jr., late of Maxfield, in said county, deceased, respectfully represents that the goods and chattels, rights and credits of said deceased are not sufficient to pay his just debts and charges of administration by the sum of two hundred and ninety-nine dollars.

Wherefore your petitioner prays your Honor to grant him a license to sell, at public or private sale, and convey all of the real estate of which said Levi Lancaster, Jr., died seized and possessed, the same being situated in the said town of Maxfield, as by a partial sale of any entire portion thereof, the residue would be greatly depreciated in value, to satisfy said debts, expenses of sale, and charges of administration.

To the Honorable Board of County Commissioners for the County of Penobscot.

We, the undersigned, inhabitants and tax payers of the town of Hermon, in said county, most respectfully represent, that in our opinion public convenience does not require or demand the opening of that part of the town road from Gilman H. Therefore we most respectfully ask said petition your Honors to examine the premises, and if consistent with your better judgment, discontinue the same, or so much thereof as you may deem wise and just.

LETTER CARRIERS.

All letters are delivered free by carriers when addressed to street and number. People should inform their correspondents of above and have their letters addressed accordingly.

Persons leaving their address at the General Delivery can also have their letters sent, but it is much more convenient to have the street and number on, and they will be delivered earlier than if the same is put on at the office. Carriers make two deliveries daily, the first trip supplying the extremes of their routes.

Collections are made, morning and evening in season for important mails—the down town boxes fifteen and the up town boxes thirty minutes before closing mails at the office.

Holidays and Sundays the Carrier's Window will be open for the delivery of letters from 8½ to 9½ A. M. Also open evenings from 8½ to 9 P. M.

Any irregularities in the Carriers' department should be reported to the office.

ENVELOPES.

No additional charge will be made for printing the name and request to return, across the left hand upper corner of the envelopes furnished by the Post Office Department, (samples of which may be seen at the Cashier's window,) when ordered in lots of not less than 500.

A request for the return of a letter to the writer, if unclaimed within thirty days, or less, written or printed, with the writer's name, post office and State, across the left end of the envelope, on the face side, will be complied with.

The public are earnestly recommended to procure Stamped envelopes with printed return request, as the expense is less, and letters thus endorsed if not delivered to the person addressed, are returned to the writer free of charge.

First-class envelopes of above furnished at $32.80 per thousand.

Stamps cut from Stamped Envelopes cannot be used to prepay postage. The use of such Stamps is punishable by a fine of fifty dollars.

Stamped Envelopes, spoiled in directing, are redeemed at this office.
